Loren Berry Honored By Rio Board of Trustees

Loren Berry was honored at a dinner hosted by Rio Grande College Board of Trustees. The dinner honoring Berry, held at the Moraine Country Club on July 17, 1972, included guest speaker, Maurice Stans.

Berry, founder and chairman of L. M. Berry & Co. and trustee of Rio Grande College, was given an award for his contributions to the field of private higher education. Stans, former secretary of Commerce under President Nixon received an honorary Doctor of Public Service degree from the college.

Berry began his career as a reporter, but left the newspaper field to sell advertising in the timetables which served inter-urban railroads. He moved to Dayton in 1910, and once settled, formed a one-man company, The Ohio Guide Co.

He continued to sell time table advertising, and branched out to the telephone directory field. His venture into telephone directories eventually developed into a coast-to-coast operation, The Yellow Pages. It is now one of the foremost telephone directory sales and publishing companies in the country.

His company, L. M. Berry & Co., is governed by the Berry Creed — total commitment, wholehearted effort and a rigid code of ethics.

Berry, who received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from Rio Grande College, was listed in both "Who's Who in America" and "Who's Who in the Midwest." He is a board member of numerous corporations and is active in a number of civic projects.

Maurice Stans, the first member of the Nixon Cabinet to be sworn into office, has a background that includes business experience and federal service. He began his career as Executive Partner in the national accounting firm of Alexander Grant & Co.

He was later named to a task force which assisted the House Appropriations Committee, and, in 1955, was named Deputy Postmaster General. He has also served as Director of the Bureau of the Budget.

In 1961, he left the federal government to go into the banking field. He returned to federal service in 1969. In addition to his business and government activities, Stans has been active in civic and professional organizations.

He is an active wildlife conservationist, and is the Sponsor and main contributor to Stans African Hall, a museum in Rock Hill, S.C. He is also president and director of the Stans Foundation, a non-profit charitable organization. In 1961, he received the Great Living American Award, presented by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Dr. Evans Returns To Rio As V. Pres. of Student Affairs

Discovering the needs of students and trying to cope with these needs is one of the priorities on the list of the new Vice-President of Student Affairs, Dr. Clyde Evans.

One of the many new faces on campus, Dr. Evans replaces Dean Jensen who went into the coaching field.

Dr. Evans has been affiliated with Rio Grande College for six years. Working formerly in the office of Admissions and records as director, then as associate professor of psychology. Dr. Evans feels he can become effective by students utilizing his office for school problems other than academic.

He plans to work with the Judiciary Committee as a consultant referring disciplinary cases to them. Dr. Evans feels students should work with the Student Senate and use their power as students to have an adequate government.

His weekly schedule will include plans to attend every Senate meeting even though it's not mandatory of him. With these plans, off hand, Dr. Evans is well on his way to a busy semester here at Rio, one which should be most profitable to the students. Dr. Evans received his B.A. from Union College in 1960, and his M. A. from Eastern Kentucky University in 1962, and finally received his doctoral degree this year from the University of Southern Mississippi. He received his final degree under the college's Faculty Development Leave Program.

Student Publications

Paying positions still remain open on the Signals and Grandion staffs.

Anyone interested should apply to Director of College Relations telling qualifications, experience, and reason for wanting the job.

Copy editor, business manager, circulation manager, and typists' positions remain on the Signals staff. Editor position on the Grandion.

Smeltzer Is Named To New Position

William O. Smeltzer has been named Vice President for Finance and Treasurer of the College, Dr. Alphus R. Christensen, President of the College announced.

Smeltzer, business manager for the school since 1969, recently passed the state examination to become a Certified Public Accountant (CPA). The exam, plus two years of experience with CPA, is required to become a licensed CPA.

A native of Gallipolis, Smeltzer joined the administrative staff at Rio Grande College in 1968 as Director of Finance. In 1969, he was named Business Manager and Treasurer, succeeding Robert Rose.

Before coming to Rio Grande, Smeltzer was a staff accountant with Haskins & Sells Certified Public Accountants from 1963 through 1967, and Chief Accountant for Ralston Purina, Wellston, in 1967-68. He earned his bachelor's degree in commerce from The

Wm. O. Smeltzer

Ohio University in 1963.

He is a member of The Ohio Society of Certified Public Accountants, The West Virginia Society of Certified Public Accountants and the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. He is also a member of the Ohio Valley Accountants Association and the American Management Association as well as the Elks Lodge, Gallipolis.

COMMENT ON WHAT?

I sit at the typewriter and I wonder who talked me into this job. Like, this is really and truly work. Now I realize how little real work I have done in my life. I can see how a teacher feels when his or her favorite pupil decides he doesn't want to work or cooperate.

Putting the paper together is really not that bad. Do I hear comments about the "not so bad" paper? Well, I will not make any excuses, but I will say "I've learned a lot in one night of working."

One basic reason I had an easy time tonight was the work of four freshmen and two upper-classmen. Everyone complains of apathy; yet these six worked well and better than was the norm for such a job.

I've heard a rumor that apathy doesn't care for Rio any more. I believe it's true.

If apathy had died, I will probably get some derogatory comments about this paper. This will be good. Any comments or suggestions are welcomed.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.....

Dear Editor,

New experiences and people are something for everyone to encounter especially the first few weeks of school.

Sometimes it seems almost too much to be thrown at a person at one time. Some just refuse to even try.

I keep hearing that things will get better, that you hate this place but you always come back and a few other reassuring phrases. But again only time will tell.

Time is everything. But only you can use it and spend it wisely.

Ellen Leftwich

Dear Editor,

I have no radical viewpoints to express to anyone. As a matter of fact, I have nothing to impress upon people's minds. Rather, I merely wish to express an opinion.

I think that freshmen of this campus should unite! Due to circumstances beyond our control you have to start somewhere, and some practical joker picked freshmen.

It has been my observation that freshmen are considered to be on exposition with the upperclassmen taking assessment of the new specimen that have arrived.

I'll admit that when it comes to irregularities, the freshmen have got the spotlight. Seldom knowing whether their coming or going, they often run collision courses with others as well as freshmen.

But, take pity, we're learning and just remember, you were a freshman once, too!

Name withheld by request.

Rio's First Elementary Teaching Certification

Joyce Hawks, Gallipolis, has received the first elementary teaching certificate in music granted by Rio Grande College. The special certificate enables her to teach music at the elementary school level.

The certification program in music is open to elementary education majors only, and is a new program at the college. The college also has a special certification program in art for elementary education.

RAY ROBERTS TO HEAD NEW CAMPUS SECURITY PROGRAM

Ray Roberts has been named to head a new campus security program at Rio Grande College in effect this fall semester at the college.

Roberts, a deputy sheriff in Gallia County, said the new program will involve a three-man staff that will patrol the campus on a 24-hour basis. He said the new program is in response to requests made by students and staff members at the college.

The campus security force will work in cooperation with local enforcement officers, and will be in radio contact with the Sheriff's Office and local marshal.

According to Roberts, the new program also includes the possibility of initiating emergency vehicle service for the campus.

A member of the Rio Grande College staff for 13 years, Roberts has completed 262 hours in law enforcement training courses at Hocking Technical College. He has compiled an A average in his work.

Roberts is also certified in Advanced First Aid techniques and Red Cross training.

Special Student Government Election

Rio Grande College's Student Senate will be conducting a special election Wednesday, September 27, 1972. This election is specifically for the purpose of filling vacancies that exist in the Student Government. The length of office for these unexpired terms will end late in November when another election will be held for a completely new student Government Administration.

There are currently four vacancies on the student senate, three vacancies on the activities committee and two vacancies on the Student Judiciary.

This is an excellent time for interested students to become involved with Student Government and its duties on this campus.

If you are seriously interested in any of these vacancies, please circulate a petition in your name for a particular position. Official petitions for this special election are available in the library, cafeteria, or the Student Government Office.

For your convenience the Student Government office, located above the student center is open weekdays 3-5 p.m.

Please stop in and express your ideas.

New Physical Education Facility

Three faculty members have been appointed to positions in Health and Physical Education.

Dr. Herman L. Koby, vice president for Academic Affairs, said Gale Hendricks and Diane Lewis have been named to replace Janine Cox and Pat Dunick. The third faculty member is Dr. George Wolfe.

Miss Hendricks and Miss Lewis began their duties this fall semester, although Dr. Wolfe has been on the faculty this summer of '72.

Miss Hendricks, who received both a bachelor's degree and a master's degree at Sam Houston University, taught health, physical education at South Park Junior High School in 1969 through 1971. She previously taught at Tom Brown Junior High School and was also a city recreation center supervisor.

She is a member of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation and a member of the National Education Association.

Dian Lewis, who also received her bachelor's and master's degrees at Sam Houston State, did her master's work in Motor Learning and Kinesiology. She taught physical education at the elementary level for three years in the Flour Bluff School System, Corpus Christi, Texas.

She is a member of the American Association for Health Physical Education and Recreation, and previously held positions as a diving instructor and camp counselor. Miss Hendricks and Miss Lewis will both be instructors in Health and Physical Education.

Dr. George Wolfe, assistant professor, received his bachelor's degree from Central Michigan, his master's degree at the University of Akron and his doctorate at the University of Utah.

His experience includes a year at the University of Wisconsin at Parkside and four years as a physical education teacher and coach at Canton McKinley High School. In 1968 he taught physical activity to Spanish-American and Indian-Americans under a program sponsored by the Ford Foundation.

In 1971, he coordinated and taught Peace Corps Trainees. Dr. Wolfe's specialization is the Physiology of Exercise.

He is a member of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation and is a member of the United States Ju Federation.

1972 ACTIVITIES FAIR

Rio's Activities Committee is, we admit, rather disorganized at present, but we are trying to "get it all together" for those who make it all worth it — YOU, the student body!

The overwhelming success of our first concert, September 6th, in Community Hall proved to those who may have had their doubts about student participation at special events on campus that they should take another look at things this year! And, they could begin looking at Bob Evans' Shelter

House tonight (Fri., Sept. 15th) when the 1st Annual Activities Fair gets underway. Members of various organizations on campus will be there to answer questions about their groups, take suggestions and to create an atmosphere of fun for everyone! Dinner will be served from 4:30 'til 6 p. m. and things will also be happenin' afterward, so DON'T MISS IT!

Other things to look forward to this year include movies, more concerts (a big one in October), Homecoming, and hopefully some student-faculty get-togethers.

Also, someone has suggested starting a "Coffee House" on campus this year. This would take a lot of work, but we're willing to give it a try. Funds are available, but success would be up to you. So, let us know tonight (Friday) at the Activities Fair. Remember, it's for YOU!!

Debbie Rimmel — Chairman, Student Activities.

Butcher Is New History Prof

Dr. Lawrence D. Butcher, associate professor of history.

Dr. Lawrence D. Butcher, former chairman of the social science department at Chicago City College, has been appointed an associate professor of history at Rio Grande College. His appointment fills the vacancy created by the retirement of Dr. David McCarrell.

Dr. Butcher has had experience and educational background in several summer institutions. According to Dr. Koby, vice president of academic affairs, Dr. Butcher is highly qualified to teach in the areas of history, political science and sociology.

Dr. Butcher was principal of the Emmanuel Christian School from 1960 to 1962, then spent one year as an assistant professor of history and humanities at Bluefield State College.

He was an assistant professor of history at Aurora College, Aurora, Ill., and teaching assistant at the University of Illinois before joining the faculty at Chicago City College.

A former Vocational Education Consultant for the Mason County Board of Education, he was a National Defense Education Fellow in 1968 for the summer Institute for College Teachers of History, held at the University of Chicago. In 1969 he attended an Institute for African Studies at Northwestern University.

Recently he finished one year of research on the History of Technology, under a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Dr. Butcher, who received bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees from Bob Jones University, also has a master's degree from the University of Chicago. He is currently working on a doctoral degree from Chicago. He is a member of the American Historical Association and the Organization of American Historians.

PROJECT CLEO

John Graham, associate professor of speech at Rio, will be advisor to Pre-law students at Rio. As representative of CLEO, The Council of Legal Education Opportunity, Graham will arrange test dates and give out informaton on the "Law School Admissions Test."

Any student interested in this program should contact John Graham. The first test date is October 21, therefore see Graham immediately.

College Activities Rearrangement

Dr. Alphus R. Christensen, president of Rio Grande College outlined some changes that affected the scheduling of College facilities and services by community groups. More than 150 community groups used facilities at the college during the past 12 months.

The changes came as the result of Jerry Ramsay, former director of special services, being named director of the Area-wide Model Project on Aging, established by the College and Ohio's Administration on Aging. Ramsey formerly handled campus arrangements for community groups as director of special services.

Coordination of special programs and events will be handled by Bruce Stalnaker, assistant director of development. He will also schedule and coordinate all community-sponsored activities that use Rio Grande College facilities, including meetings, dinners, tours, athletics and recreational events.

Stalnaker will also work with programs of interest to various groups, such as last yer's "Civilisation" series, and will work with groups such as the Ohio State University Geology Institute, Camp Crescendo and the upcoming Southeastern Ohio Education Association meeting. The speakers Bureau, which provides a central source of speakers for a variety of events, will be under the Office of College Relations this year. A complete list of speakers and topics will be published in mid-September.

Campus parking, including registration of vehicles, parking permits or tickets, will be handled through thz Finance Office.

Humanities Department Faculty

Rio Grande College Division of Humanities has added two new faculty members. They are Dr. Joavenell McNealy and Carol Reynolds. Dr. McNealy taught the reading skill development program during the summer session at Rio.

Miss Reynold joined the faculty this fall, teaches speech and theatre, and will direct the College Theatre. Ed Roark, former director, has taken a leave of absence to complete his master's degree and begin work on a doctoral in the humanities.

Ohio and National Education tion member, Miss received her bachelor's and master's degrees from Marshall University.

She worked in speech, debate, and theatre at Milton and Ashland high schools. She also spent four years at Rock Hill Elementary School, where she was the librarian and was active in speech.

Dr. McNealy received her doctoral degree from West Virginia University in education, emphasizing reading and early childhood education. She will fill the vacancy created by Marjorie Harrison, who has taken a leave of absence to work on her doctoral degree at Syracuse University.

Holder of a bachelor's degree from Cedarville and a master's from Marshall, Dr. McNealy spent 17 years in Elementary Education. She also supervised a county-wide reading program for five years.

Dr. McNealy has been a faculty member at Shephard College, Pikeville College and Fairmont State, and designed and implemented a county-wide kindergarten and special education programs.

She holds a General Supervisor of Instruction certificate for grades 1 through 12 from Marshall University and the State of West Virginia Department of Education. She also holds a Reading Specialist certification from the State of West Virginia.

REORGANIZATION OF INTRAMURALS

Intramurals are here, this year featuring a fresh look that is loaded with promise of intramural sports becoming a much bigger thing on the Rio Grande campus than in past years. The new look came about under the guidance of John "Ski" Godinsky, student head of intramural sports, and Dr. George Wolfe, faculty advisor. Both Dr. Wolfe and Ski hope the innovations in this year's program will give more students a chance to participate in intramural sports and also arouse more interest in intramural sports.

This year's schedule has many new activities added to last year's schedule of football, basketball and volleyball. These new activities cover such a wide field that there is something for everyone. For the gut-and-grit athlete there are still football and basketball; for the intellectual athlete there is a chess tournament; for the mobile and agile athlete there is a tennis tournament; for the backyard athlete there is jarts. A complete schedule of this year's activities will be in the newspaper next week.

The biggest innovation this year insures wider participation. No longer will intramural sports be male-dominated, as this year's intramural sports schedule includes several activities for the girls. There will be women's basketball and volley ball, as well as coed tennis, chess and archery.

No longer will teams represent floors. This year a person has to sign up for each sport. His name is then mixed up with the other names of those who signed up for the sport. The teams are then drawn. The reason for this system is to have more even teams than has been the case in the past. However, this system has one serious drawback. No longer will there be the spirit as floor goes against floor, no longer the unity a floor team holds, and no longer the excitement as the best of Holzer faces the best of Boyd.

The intramural sports schedule is already going on, as the coed tennis tournament started last Wednesday. Next Monday marks the beginning of flag football and the coed chess tournament.

←GREEK LEAK→

Each of the Greek organizations on campus would like to take this opportunity to welcome all new and returning students to Rio Grande College. All of us hope you've had a successful summer and extend our best wishes for a successful semester.

Chi Omega Alpha would like to congratulate two of their sisters on their engagements: Marlene Cusick to Mike Oliver, and Marsha Shields to Ken Ater. They are looking forward to working at the Apple Festival and hope that everyone will stop and see them at their booth. Athena's famous flowers and other goodies will be on hand for the festivities.

Zeta Theta Chi extends a warm welcome to Rio's new faculty members. They are looking forward to meeting everyone at the Activities Fair and also at their booth at the Apple Festival. They would like to introduce and welcome their new co-advisor, Mrs. Jean Cooper.

Lambda Omicron Psi would like to announce the following slate of officers: President, Jeri McCormick; Vice-president, Pete Perkins; Secretary, Sherry Finney; treasurer, Sarah Winters, and board member-at-large, Rita Garland. They are eager to see and talk to many girls at the Activities Fair.

Alpha Sigma Phi hopes to make this a great year. They are here to help the community and college campus, and urge the rest of the student body to help in this drive.

Pi Sigma fraternity also extends a warm welcome and they are looking forward to seeing everyone this semester.

Alpha Chi Nu, the fraternal Order of Archon, would like to thank everyone who attended the beer blast on Wednesday. They extend congratulations to their brother Bryce Sayre and Sally Howard who were married this summer, and to their new advisor Mr. Sofranko and his wife on the birth of their new daughter. Their executive committee for the year is made up of President, Bob Bennett; Vice-president, Bryce Sayre; Secretary, Tim Schmidt, and Treasurer, Al Smith.

Alpha Mu Beta would like to thank Mrs. Espenscheid for all her helpfulness in the past. They are happy to announce their new co-advisor, Mrs. Sofranko. They extend congratulations to the Sofrankos on their new baby and to Sally Howard and Bryce Sayre on their marriage.
